THE WIGWAM WAS PACKED

Republicans Turned Out En Masse to Hear the Campaign Speeches Last Night.

HON. GEORGE W. PRINCE

Of Illinois, and Hon. J. Rankin Martin, of Beaver Falls, Ably Discussed the Issues.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC CATHERING.

The Republican mass meeting at the wigwam last evening was very largely attended and the enthusiasm was a good prediction that McKinley and Roosevelt will carry this city by an almost unanimous vote.

The following list of vice presidents were read:

W. F. Dawson, Mack Anderson, Thomas Todd, William Frazier, Alex Mackintosh, William Allen, George Smith, Frank Knowles, Colonel H. R. Hill, J. A. Webster, J. H. Davidson, William Beardmore, Homer Twaddle, Fred Ackerman, W. H. Padden, Sam Eardley, C. D. Lentz, J. C. Allison, M. B. Louthan, Dr. J. W. Gardner and Jere Ansley, of St. Clair township.

Chairman Marshall made the opening address and in a well chosen speech introduced J. Rankin Martin, of Beaver Falls.

Hon. J. R. Martin, of Beaver Falls, formerly prosecuting attorney of Beaver county, made a brief address along the line of the main issues of the campaign. His talk was teeming with strong facts, concise arguments and occasional anecdotes and pleasantries, holding the close and earnest attention of his large audience, which showed its appreciation by earnest bursts of applause.

Mr. Martin gave facts and figures in connection with Republican and Democratic administrations, demonstrating to his orators the good results which followed a wise protective tariff under McKinley and the Republican party, and the demoralization of the nation and its industries under the administration of Grover Cleveland, the Democratic party and the pernicious Wilson bill, a measure which brought untold misery not only to East Liverpool, but to the nation at large. The speaker closed his remarks with an eloquent appeal to the voters present to cast their ballots in favor of McKinley and Roosevelt and the Republican ticket in its entirety, putting a cross right under the great bird of freedom, the American eagle.

Dr. Marshall then introduced Hon. George Washington Prince, representative in congress from the 10th Illinois district.

Mr. Prince, who is a most eloquent speaker, in part said:

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—I regret that your chairman took the method he did of introducing me as George Washington Prince, since it will compel me to tell the truth. Had he simply mentioned me as a member of congress, it would have given me much greater latitude.

NATION'S HONOR AND PROSPERITY

Let manhood and common sense guide, direct and control your ballot. Cast party prejudice and partisanship aside. Four short years ago there was want and suffering and soup houses in the land. You know that this is a plain statement of plain truth. You know that Soup Houses existed in the City of East Liverpool. You know that women and children were forced, by the keen pangs of hunger, to patronize this charity. Strong and true men, who were willing to work could work have been had, ate the gift of charity at the hands of their friends.

WHAT WAS THE GAUSE OF THIS?

You know, and I know, and every reading, thinking, observant man and woman knows that this suffering and want and woe was caused on account of incompetent men being at the helm of this great government. The infamous Wilson Bill and the pernicious and criminally foolish doctrine of Free Trade did much to bring the curse upon us. During Grover Cleveland's administration; during the reign of the Democratic-Popocratic parties, Cleveland and his followers had full sway, having control of both Houses at Washington City; and, instead of decreasing the national indebtedness, they ran into debt and piled up an additional debt of Two Hundred and Sixty Millions of Dollars, and compelled us to become a Nation of Borrowers, at a heavy rate of interest, in order that government and people might simply exist; and they left this heritage of debt for a Republican administration to wipe out.

THESE ARE STERN FACTS.

And the great masses of the mechanics and toilers of the Nation know them to be facts, and you cannot fool the common people longer.

NOW NOTE THE CHANGE

Not quite four years ago the people called the Democratic-Popocratic party to a strict account and turned them cut of office. And, oh my countrymen and fellow workingmen, what a change, under God's blessing, under the beneficent rule and wise control of William McKinley and a Republican form of government. Mills, mines, glass houses, potteries and every form of industry in the nation have opened up. Work for everybody who wants work, at good wages and shorter hours. An immense increase in the per capita of money to our people—the common people, the strength and bulwark of our country. Ring the truth out jubilantly, men and women and children.

THE GREATEST ERA OF PROSPERITY

This great and blessed country has ever known, under any president—under any administration.

district have on numberless occasions had the pleasure of hearing your old representative in congress speak from the rostrum, and it is my opinion that I am a pretty small peg to put in a hole so large as that filled by our own McKinley."

The speaker then described the district which he represented in congress; how at the end of the last century the Spanish flag had waived over the very territory now included in the makeup of his congressional district. When plans were adopted by the law-makers of that period whereby that territory might be made a part of the United States there was the same sort of a howl about imperialism on the part of the same sort of citizens who were having so much to say along the same line at the present time.

However, the spirit of advancement and progress had predominated and today, instead of 13 our flag contains 45 stars, and this is the greatest country upon the face of the earth.

Illinois has a warm feeling for Ohio. In 1860, during the progress of the Republican national convention in Chicago, when no one knew whether it was to be the great Seward of New York, or the magnificent Lincoln of Illinois.

Ohio stood out for Illinois and her representative. We waited a good many years to pay that debt of gratitude, but when the opportunity afforded we were not found wanting. It was paid, however, and I am proud of the fact that we had the opportunity of rallying to the support of so grand a man as William McKinley.

The speaker showed how since Harrison's time, 1893, $14,000,000 of the great national debt had been wiped out, and still the Republican party had been accused of not wanting to pay off the national obligations; that it was the policy of the party to legislate in favor of the bond holders and bankers.

Cleveland, during his first administration, had been handicapped by not having control of the senate, but in 1892 the party of Grover Cleveland had entered into full and absolute control of the government of the United States.

McKinley had told the speaker at that time how the pottery industry had been effected. How different had been the record of the two men from this district, one furnishing the potteries of this community all the work and more than they could do, while the other, right from your own town, had provided the building for a soup house.

In 1897, $260,000,000 was added to the national debt. This was under a Democratic house and senate. In the opinion of the speaker the Democrats didn't know how to run a government, and that recalled to his mind a time when he had heard Governor Ogelsby, of Illinois, make an address, during the course of which he said: "Why these infernal sap suckers have the impudence to assert they have the ability to run this government. Why it's all we can do to run it ourselves."

We pay annually to the soldiers and orphans of the rebellion more than $250,000,000 and I am one of the men who do not believe we pay them half enough for the service rendered the republic.

Just stop to think what would have been the conditions had we not succeeded in that great struggle—if we had not retained that territory south of Mason's and Dixon's line. Think of the trouble we would have had. I am here to say if we had not succeeded in those dark days from '61 to '65 I would not be here addressing you

This panic, as we have seen, Mr. Bryan fully admits will take place. Therefore it is conceded that the consequences of that panic will follow his election.

How Would it Work With Farmers.

If a farmer hoped to profit by a 51cent dollar to pay off his mortgage at about half its face, how would it work? On the 7th of November next cents instead of 51, and foreclose? there will be no more silver dollars in circulation than if McKinley was elected, nor would there be on the 5th of March next, since no more could be coined or issued until after a free silver coinage law had been passed.

With probably a majority in the senate in favor of sound money, even if not expiring until 1903, December 1, 1903, is the earliest date at which trous.

Such a law could not, of course, be passed without the most desperate But perhaps some one may ask does fight by its opponents, and, as the all summer, is not likely to become a law before April of 1894, and unless the house of representatives of 1903 would it not prevent a depreciation well as the senate, it could not be would every day strengthen its oppo- of the bowels.

nents, and probably add to their numbers too, both in the house and even in the senate, by reason of silver politicians seeing the error of their ways under the pressure exerted by their home constituents (just as we saw a majority of 20 of the senate opposed to the repeal of the Sherman silver law in March of 1893, changed by August of that year, under a much less severe panic, to a majority in favor of repeal) so that there is not only a possibility, but even a probability that with a free silver majority in the senate in 1903, the 1902 elections to the house of representatives held in the midst of the panic, may have rendered the house itself in favor of sound defeat the passage of a bill altogether, and in that case the farmer and the country would be left floundering in the panic, and fail to reap the hoped for profit.

And if the senate were immediately for free silver on Bryan's election, and an extra session were called, the law could not be passed until September, 1901.

Then to coin 829,000,000 silver dollars to replace that number of gold dollars driven out of circulation would require at the present speed, over eight years. If the printing press was resorted to, as the Populists suggest, it would require, at the present rate for treasury notes, on the special paper therefor, of $1,250,000 a day, over a year, which would put relief off till 1905 (or September, 1902 as the case might be), or either four years and a half (or about two years) after Mr. Bryan's election.

Now as the gold would have been driven out of circulation, it is evident that until the coinage bill became a law, or until April, 1904, or September, 1901, or either for several years, or else for 10 months after Mr. Bry an's election, we would have only three-fifths as much money as now, and at the end of the one or five years additional, no more than now.

Such a radical and is exhausted, not a dollar of gold can the secretary of the treasury get under this act to exchange for silver apart from any panic on account of dollars or silver certificates; and consequently the act leaves him in such case, even without the repeal of this act and without the passage of any free silver coinage bill, utterly powerless to prevent a depreciation of silver dollars or a premium on gold.

I felt the Republican party was to blame for not passing a more stringent bill until I saw Senator Burrow's explanation, viz:

"A more simple provision, which was seriously considered by a Republican caucus of the house, was to make it obligatory of the secretary of the treasury to give gold or silver coin on demand. With such a provision any person receiving silver in payment of government obligations could at once demand gold and the effect would be to compel the treasurer to maintain gold payments."

I want you to re-elect him. He couldn't appoint all his supporters to postoffices. Don't be sore heads. I have about 150 appointments to make myself, and know how it goes. My plan is to make the appointments regardless of anything but efficient service; then stand 'em up and tell them to match 'em if they can.

The reason the currency bill did not reach the president before it did was for the very simple reason that the Democrats and Populists controlled the senate, and congress went no further than to frame the bill and get things in readiness at the session of 1897. They returned to their homes and told the people to send senators and representatives to the state legislatures who would in turn select Republican U.S. senators. This was done, and, as a result a majority was obtained in both houses, and the ard was passed March 14, 1900.

The products of the farm have inreased in price, the wages of the working man have gone up, the hours of labor have been shortened till they are now talking of a universal eighthour day.

Four years ago the hours were not enough. Workmen were begging for one hour a day then, and were glad to get it at any price.

The speaker here dwelt on the present financial policy, making it perfectly clear to all present; showing the contrast between the policy of Cleveland when he honored the money from Wall street, brokers and bankers, and that of McKinley when he said: "I will give my people a chance to buy these bonds."

The bankers were not permitted to purchase in large quantities until the bonds of smaller denomination were disposed of. Mr. Prince illustrated this argument by the case which occurred in his own district, where the bank in a small town wanted $10,000, and they were refused until the school teachers and ministers had been sup- We lead; let those who can follow great nation of ours. We would have had no congressno country. Those very people are glad today they are back in the union.

In referring to the conditions of surrender and the agreement of the United States to pay $20,000,000 for the possessions of Spain in the Philippines, Mr. Prince likened the president to Grant at Appomattox, who permitted the vanquished foe to retain his side arms and the army to keep their horses for use on their farms.

From the moment Abraham Lincoln was nominated till the time of his assassination no harsh word escaped his lips against the people of the south.

Born in Kentucky he always had a kindly feeling for them. "With malice toward none and charity for all" he went into eternity.

One of the first duties performed by the president upon taking his seat foreign country. Being on the ground in 1897 was to assemble congress in special session for the purpose of readjusting the tariff in order that the factories might be started and prosperity return to the nation.

In a very short time the infamous Wilson tariff had been knocked out and the Dingley bill substituted. The effect of this move had been marvelous, and one of the very first cities to feel the benefits of the Republican administration was East Liverpool.

Next to them were the bituminous coal miners, who were advanced from 25 to 49 cents per ton. Work was resumed in work shop and factory, the products of the farm were purchased at fair prices, children were happy, well fed and clothed. They looked at the school house without dread, as they had books and shoes, and the winter had no terrors for them.

At the time the Roberts affair was before the house Tayler had been easily superior to any other man in congress at that supreme moment.

I want you to re-elect him. He couldn't appoint all his supporters to postoffices. Don't be sore heads. I have about 150 appointments to make myself, and know how it goes. My plan is to make the appointments regardless of anything but efficient service; then stand 'em up and tell them to match 'em if they can.

Her Husband Files a Cross Petition In Which He Says Something.

MAKES INTERESTING READING

The Wooster Republican prints the following article which will be of decided interest to many people in this city, as Mrs. Thomas is the widow of the late Attorney A. R. Mackall, of this city:

Many residents of the city, especially those of the Second ward, remember the woman who was Mrs. A. R. Mackall. They will also recall that she was received into good society for a time. It will be remembered that Andy M. Thomas, a young man about in a warehouse at Wapakoneta, withtown, entered her employ as coachman. It was not long until it was reported that Mrs. Mackall had formed an attachment for her coachman. Then Mrs. Mackall was dropped very suddenly by her lady acquaintances. Not many months after this, Mrs. Mackall, her children, Thomas, the horses and the dogs departed for Virginia.

Mrs. Thomas married her coachman May 23, 1899. They returned to Wooster after some months and took possession of the pretty home on East Bowman street. The coachman's wife got the Klondike stare from those whom the had counted as friends. Life in Wooster was not pleasant, and they moved to Wapakoneta, O., where Mrs. Thomas bought a drug store in which Mr. Thomas was installed.

It was supposed that all was lovely between them until a few days ago when it was learned that she had applied for a divorce, and had Thomas apprehended when he was about to leave with her horses and dogs.

Thomas has filed a cross-petition to that of Mrs. Thomas. In this he alalleges "that almost ever since their marriage the plaintiff has continuously annoyed defendant in different ways; that she has held frequent correspondence with other men, against the protest of defendant, and has refused at all times to divulge to defendant the nature or kind of correspondence being held with different men; that said plaintiff, during nearly all of their said married life, has maintained a separate lock box in the different postoffices at which plaintiff and defendant have received mail; that she has at all times refused defendant access to said lock box, or to examine any of the mail therein received. "Defendant says that in a fit of anger said plaintiff left her home in a partially disordered condition and started to run toward the town of Newport News, about six miles distant; that he, fearing her mind was unbalanced, started to follow plaintiff; that she suddenly turned around and time she fell down in the road, tearing her hair, and declaring that she intended to kill herself. EAST LIVERPOOL, O.

DO YOU WISH TO BUY OR SELL REAL ESTATE? If so, consult us, We have the facilities for accommodating you. Having made real estate dealing a specialty for some time, we have become established in the business. Every day brings us new business and nearly every day sees a deal consummated. ur volume of business grows out of the reasonableness of our charges. We never speculate on other peoples' property. The price set by the owner is the price the purchaser pays. We do not conduct our business on the "get rich quick" plan. Our patrons appreciate this and show it by sending us other patrons. Owners of property who desire to sell the same will do well to place it on our sale list. Those intending to purchase property will do well to consult us before buying.

In all of our business we take care of the interests of both owner and purchaser. We are neither for the one or the other. Justice between both parties is what we seek.

Owners who want a quick sale and will offer a genuine bargain can be accommodated at all times by us. Purchasers, who want a bargain, can take advantage of these offers if they will let us know that they are in the market for such.

Those who have but little money, say from $50 to $100, can buy a home from us at any time, the balance being paid on installments at the rate of $1 monthly to the $100 of indebtedness, which pays both interest and principal, with privilege of paying faster. The large assortment of properties we have constantly on sale enables us to usually suit you.

DO YOU WISH FIRE INSURANCE? This is another branch of our business. We represent ten different companies, all of high standard. We insure dwellings, barns, mercantile buildings, factories, merchandise, household goods, etc. We write at regular rates. We think it unfair to give what is known as "cut rates." As a basis for dwelling rates, we would say that a frame, slate roof building which stands unexposed by other buildings for the space of 25 feet on all sides, will cost you 35 cents per $100 insurance for one year; 70 cents per $100 for three years; or, $1 per $100 for five years. This applies to household goods as well. Household goods are just as valuable, proportionately to you as the house is to its owner, and we often wonder why so many owners of household goods let themselves be exposed to loss, and often lose them when insurance rates are so reasonable.

BONDS, STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS we also handle. We can sell you local stocks, bonds and investments, and also corporation, bank and railroad stocks and bonds. Not much business in this line has developed here yet, but by your co-operation with us, either as a buyer or seller, will be all that is necessary to develop such.

HOUSE RENTING as a business is what East Liverpool has needed for some time. In our renting department, you find such and every day is adding to its utility. If you have any properties to rent place them with us and see if it does not profit you.

All kinds of notarial work executed, such as acknowledgements, writing of wills, deeds, mortgages, contracts and agreements. We also procure marriage licenses.

Loaning of money on real estate is another feature of our business. We negotiate loans for a reasonable charge, the rate of interest depending on the class of security and amount wanted. Those who have money to put out should avail themselves of our facilities for doing this kind of business. No charges to the lender.

To the public we extend free of charge our services in the way of supplying information of a general nature concerning our city and vicinity. We try to have at all times just what you want to know.

We open this week a free bureau for the accommodation of those who are seeking houses to rent and landlords who are seeking tenants. We are constantly besieged with applications for houses for rent. To this end we invite all owners of rentable houses in the city or vicinity to let us know when they want or will want a tenant. If they will do so we will refer inquirers to them, making no charge whatever, either to applicant or owner. Landlords by doing this need never have a house empty for more than a

In the above we have endeavored to give you the general nature of the business in which we engage. We ask but a continuance of the patronage of the past, and, as then, we will endeavor to render you honest, accurate and valuable service.

ELIJAH W. HILL. Real Estate Dealer,

Second Floor Grand Building, Corner Sixth Washington, EAST LIVERPOOL, O.

DO YOU WISH TO BUY OR SELL REAL ESTATE? If so, consult us, We have the facilities for accommodating you. Having made real estate dealing a specialty for some time, we have become established in the business. Every day brings us new business and nearly every day sees a deal consummated. ur volume of business grows out of the reasonableness of our charges. We never speculate on other peoples' property. The price set by the owner is the price the purchaser pays. We do not conduct our business on the "get rich quick" plan. Our patrons appreciate this and show it by sending us other patrons. Owners of property who desire to sell the same will do well to place it on our sale list. Those intending to purchase property will do well to consult us before buying.

In all of our business we take care of the interests of both owner and purchaser. We are neither for the one or the other. Justice between both parties is what we seek.

Owners who want a quick sale and will offer a genuine bargain can be accommodated at all times by us. Purchasers, who want a bargain, can take advantage of these offers if they will let us know that they are in the market for such.

Those who have but little money, say from $50 to $100, can buy a home from us at any time, the balance being paid on installments at the rate of $1 monthly to the $100 of indebtedness, which pays both interest and principal, with privilege of paying faster. The large assortment of properties we have constantly on sale enables us to usually suit you.

DO YOU WISH FIRE INSURANCE? This is another branch of our business. We represent ten different companies, all of high standard. We insure dwellings, barns, mercantile buildings, factories, merchandise, household goods, etc. We write at regular rates. We think it unfair to give what is known as "cut rates." As a basis for dwelling rates, we would say that a frame, slate roof building which stands unexposed by other buildings for the space of 25 feet on all sides, will cost you 35 cents per $100 insurance for one year; 70 cents per $100 for three years; or, $1 per $100 for five years. This applies to household goods as well. Household goods are just as valuable, proportionately to you as the house is to its owner, and we often wonder why so many owners of household goods let themselves be exposed to loss, and often lose them when insurance rates are so reasonable.

BONDS, STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS we also handle. We can sell you local stocks, bonds and investments, and also corporation, bank and railroad stocks and bonds. Not much business in this line has developed here yet, but by your co-operation with us, either as a buyer or seller, will be all that is necessary to develop such.

HOUSE RENTING as a business is what East Liverpool has needed for some time. In our renting department, you find such and every day is adding to its utility. If you have any properties to rent place them with us and see if it does not profit you.

All kinds of notarial work executed, such as acknowledgements, writing of wills, deeds, mortgages, contracts and agreements. We also procure marriage licenses.

Loaning of money on real estate is another feature of our business. We negotiate loans for a reasonable charge, the rate of interest depending on the class of security and amount wanted. Those who have money to put out should avail themselves of our facilities for doing this kind of business.

To the public we extend free of charge our services in the way of supplying information of a general nature concerning our city and vicinity. We try to have at all times just what you want to know.

We open this week a free bureau for the accommodation of those who are seeking houses to rent and landlords who are seeking tenants. We are constantly besieged with applications for houses for rent. To this end we invite all owners of rentable houses in the city or vicinity to let us know when they want or will want a tenant. If they will do so we will refer inquirers to them, making no charge whatever, either to applicant or owner. Landlords by doing this need never have a house empty for more than

In the above we have endeavored to give you the general nature of the business in which we engage. We ask but a continuance of the patronage of the past, and, as then, we will endeavor to render you honest, accurate and valuable service.

HARD'S THE BIG STORE. May Be Victims of New York Explosion.

PIECES OF BODIES WERE FOUND.

Not Yet Known How Many the Parts May Compose-The Remains of a Man Named Schmidt Discovered-A List of the Missing.

New York, Oct. 31.-All the efforts of the authorities are now directed to cleaning away the ruins of the Tarrant and other buildings wrecked in the great explosion, in the desire to and out how many bodies are buried In them and to ascertain what was the cause of the explosion. The efforts of the searchers for the dead was rewarded by the finding of the remains of H. C. A. Schmidt, of 550 Clinton street, Brooklyn, and the discovery of what looks to be the bodies of three other people. Schmidt was an engraver and had an office on the third floor of 101 Warren street. The body could be seen pinned down under a mess of twisted iron, but could not be gotten at, at the time. The identification was made by a nephew of Schmidt.

At the northwest corner of the Tarrant building, at Warren and Greenwich streets, a mass of clothing and indiscriminate articles was come across and the mass was said to be the bodies of three people. The firemen went to work with a will to dig out the mass, and brought to light a portion of a woman's foot and the top of a crushed-in skull. The skull had long brown hair attached and is supposedly that of a woman.

Both Inspector Brooks and Captain Westervelt were skeptical over the reported large loss oflife. They both said that they did not expect that more than four or five bodies would be found in the ruins.

Playing on the still burning ruins were four engines, and they kept their streams going continually.

A revised list showed 32 persons still missing.

Later a portion of a human trunk, probably the abdomen, was dug out and a little later a brown canvas | 933.

Still later the firemen found another portion of a skull and a portion of a human back.

Dr. Comer, of the health department, who examined the remains, said they were probably all from the same person, as were the foot and portion of a skull found earlier.

The remains were all found in the Tarrant building.

Later a workman found a black cheviot coat in the exact spot where the human remains had been found. In the pockets were 4 cents and an application for membership in the West End Republican club.

Shortly afterward, in the same place an entirely unrecognizable mass of human flesh was found. A half coat was also found at this place. Following is the revised list of miss-

Jury Rendered a First Degree Verdict.

Played Cards In the Jail a Portion of the Time That the Jury Was Deliberating-Some Points of the Charge of the Judge.

Marysville, O., Oct. 31.—The jury has returned a verdict of murder in the first degree, without recommendation, against Rosslyn Ferrell, the train robber charged with the murder of Express Messenger Lane. The verdict carried with it the death sen-

Ferrell's demeanor during the whole of the last day's proceedings was one of apparent indifference, and part of the time, while the jury was debating the question that meant life or death to him, he was playing cards in the jail.

The deliberations of the jury occupied 6 hours and 30 minutes. Both Judge Melhorn and the prisoner had retired for the night, and nearly an hour was consumed before court could be convened and the verdict received. The finding was delivered in the usual form. When the indictment was read Ferrell appeared to be taken by surprise and his face flushed. This was the first visible sign of emotion that has been shown by the prisoner during the trial, but he quickly gained his composure and was led back to his cell without having uttered a word. Judge Melhorn discharged the jury, and Attorney Cameron, for the defense, at once gave notice of a motion for a new trial There were not over 20 spectators in the court room when the jury reported, and there was no excitement the night of Aug. 10 last, of Charles Tour In New York State. His Opinion.

Toledo, Oct. 31.-W. J. Bryan is expected to begin a one-day tour of Ohio by a speech here today. Dunkirk, N. Y., Oct. 31.-W. J. Bryan concluded the final day of his last campaign tour in this city last night. During the day he spoke at Addison, Hornellsville, Almond, Alfred, Andover, Wellsville, Belmont, Friendship, Cuba, Hinsdale, Olean, Salamanca, Randolph, Jamestown and Dunkirk. All these towns are in the southwestern part of the state and all have been strongly Republican in politics. The meetings of the day were generally well attended and some of them quite enthusiastic.

Before leaving here Mr. Bryan said

of New York:

"If the reports which come from the various counties where polls have been made can be taken as representing the general sentiment throughout the state we have more than an even chance of carrying the state."

SWORE FALSELY AGAINST POWERS.

Anderson Makes Affidavit-Says Arthur Goebel Gave Him Money.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 31.-The Evening Post prints an affidavit of Finley Anderson, a telegraph operator, upon whose testimony Caleb Powers was convicted of complicity in the murder of Governor Goebel, in which Anderson swears his story told on the stand at Georgetown was perjured. After telling of a conversation with Attorney Campbell at Cincinnati in connection with the Goebel case, he

"I remained in Cincinnati after this conversation with Campbell, and some time after that Arthur Goebel, in his store on the fourth floor, where I had gone at his request, asked me if Powers had not in my presence at Barbourville in January said to me in substance these words, referring to William Goebel: 'They say he wears were drowned in the great flood.

a coat of man, out it won't do him any good,' or something similar to that. I told Goebel that Powers never anything of that sort in my presence to the best of my knowledge. He told me to think and see if I could not remember it. I could not remember such a remark, and I know that Powers never made it, in my presence; but being urged by Arthur Goebel, I finally concluded to state that he did make such a statement, and so swore upon the trial, which testimony was false.

"Before making my statement to Campbell, Wharton Golden told me to make it as strong as possible, as they (referring to Campbell and Goebel) would take care of me and pro-

"I have since such conversation with Campbell and Arthur Goebel received from Arthur Goebel various sums aggregating about $300, and upon one occasion $10 from Justus Goebel. The last sum I received was on Tuesday. Oct. 23, 1900, which was $5 given to me by Colonel Campbell at his office in Cincinnati."

May De Victims of New York Explosion.

PIECES OF BODIES WERE FOUND.

Not Yet Known How Many the Parts May Compose-The Remains of a Man Named Schmidt Discovered-A List of the Missing.

New York, Oct. 31.-All the efforts of the authorities are now directed to cleaning away the ruins of the Tarrant and other buildings wrecked in the great explosion, in the desire to and out how many bodies are buried In them and to ascertain what was increase of nearly 21 per cent. the cause of the explosion. The efforts of the searchers for the dead was rewarded by the finding of the remains of H. C. A. Schmidt, of 550 Clinton street, Brooklyn, and the discovery of what looks to be the bodies of three other people. Schmidt was an engraver and had an office on the third floor of 101 Warren street. The body could be seen pinned down under a mess of twisted iron, but could not be gotten at, at the time. The identi-acation was made by a nephew of Schmidt.

At the northwest corner of the Tarrant building, at Warren and Greenwich streets, a mass of clothing and indiscriminate articles was come across and the mass was said to be the bodies of three people. The firemen went to work with a will to dig out the mass, and brought to light a portion of a woman's foot and the top of a crushed-in skull. The skull had long brown hair attached and is supposedly that of a woman.

Both Inspector Brooks and Captain Westervelt were skeptical over the reported large loss oflife. They both said that they did not expect that more than four or five bodies would be found in the ruins.

Playing on the still burning ruins were four engines, and they kept their streams going continually.

A revised list showed 32 persons still missing.

Later a portion of a human trunk, probably the abdomen, was dug out and a little later a brown canvas

Still later the firemen found another portion of a skull and a portion of a human back.

Dr. Comer, of the health department, who examined the remains, said they were probably all from the same person, as were the foot and portion of a skull found earlier.

The remains were all found in the Tarrant building.

Later a workman found a black heviot coat in the exact spot where the human remains had been found. In the pockets were 4 cents and an West End Republican club. Shortly afterward, in the same place, an entirely unrecognizable mass of human flesh was found. A half coat. was also found at this place.

Jury Rendered a First Degree Verdict.

THE MURDERER WAS UNCONCERNED

Played Cards In the Jail a Portion of the Time That the Jury Was Deliberating-Some Points of the Charge of the Judge.

Marysville, O., Oct. 31.—The jury has returned a verdict of murder in the first degree, without recommendation, against Rosslyn Ferrell, the train robber charged with the murder of Express Messenger Lane. The verdict carried with it the death sen-

Ferrell's demeanor during the whole of the last day's proceedings was one of apparent indifference, and part of the time, while the jury was debating the question that meant life or death to him, he was playing cards in the jail.

The deliberations of the jury occupled 6 hours and 30 minutes. Both Judge Melhorn and the prisoner had retired for the night, and nearly an hour was consumed before court could be convened and the verdict received. The finding was delivered in the usual form. When the indictment was read Ferrell appeared to be taken by surprise and his face flushed. This was the first visible sign of emotion that has been shown by the prisoner during the trial, but he quickly regained his composure and was led back to his cell without having uttered a word. Judge Melhorn discharged the jury, and Attorney Cameron, for the defense, at once gave notice of a motion for a new trial. There were not over 20 spectators in the court room when the jury reported, and there was no excitement.

Ferrell's crime was the murder, on the night of Aug. 10 last, of Charles Lane, an express messenger on a Panhandle eastbound train. The murder was committed for the purpose of robbery. Ferrell secured $1,000 in money from the way safe of the Adams Express company.

Atty. Cameron and Prosecutor Robinson made their arguments and the case being delivered to the jury by Judge Melhorn. His charge was quite lengthy, being devoted largely to instructions for the guidance of the jury in determining the mental status of the prisoner at the time the crime was committed. He especially admonished the jury that no light or flippant doubt or whlm and no sentiment or previous impression should be allowed to enter into the case. The jury retired for deliberation.

Toledo, Oct. 31.-W. J. Bryan is expected to begin a one-day tour of Ohio by a speech here today.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Oct. 31.-W. J Bryan concluded the final day of his last campaign tour in this city last ton, Manitoba. night. During the day he spoke at Addison, Hornellsville, Almond, Alfred. Andover. Wellsville, Belmont, Friendship, Cuba, Hinsdale, Olean, Salamanca, Randolph, Jamestown and Dunkirk. All these towns are in the southwestern part of the state and all have been strongly Republican in politics. The meetings of the day were generally well attended and some of them quite enthusiastic

of New York: "If the reports which come from the various counties where polls have been made can be taken as representing the general sentiment throughout the state we have more than an even chance of carrying the state."

SWORE FALSELY AGAINST POWERS.

Anderson Makes Affidavit-Says Arthur Goebel Gave Him Money.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 31.-The Evening Post prints an affidavit of Finley Anderson, a telegraph operator, upon whose testimony Caleb Powers was convicted of complicity in the murder of Governor Goebel, in which Anderson swears his story told on the stand at Georgetown was perjured. After telling of a conversation with Attorney Campbell at Cincinnati in connection with the Goebel case, he

"I remained in Cincinnati after this conversation with Campbell, and some time after that Arthur Goebel, in his store on the fourth floor, where I had gone at his request, asked me if Powers had not in my presence at Barbourville in January said to me in substance these words, referring to William Goebel: They say he wears were drowned in the great flood.

a coat of man, out it won't do him any good,' or something similar to that. I told Goebel that Powers never said anything of that sort in my presence to the best of my knowledge. He told me to think and see if I could not remember it. I could not remember such a remark, and I know that Powers never made it, in my presence; but being urged by Arthur Goebel, I finally concluded to state that he did make such a statement, and so swore upon the trial, which testimony was false.

"Before making my statement to Campbell, Wharton Golden told me to make it as strong as possible, as they (referring to Campbell and Goebel) would take care of me and protect me.

"I have since such conversation with Campbell and Arthur Goebel received from Arthur Goebel various sums aggregating about $300, and upon one occasion $10 from Justus Goebel. The last sum I received was on Tuesday. Oct. 23, 1900, which was $5 given to me by Colonel Campbell at his office in Cincinnati."

DREW BIG CROWDS.

Roosevelt Well Received at Rochester, N. Y .- Attempt to Prevent His Speaking at Galena.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 31.-When the Roosevelt train arrived here last night the party found great crowds both at the depot and the two halls, and a splendid greeting was accorded the vice presidential candidate. There was an immense parade of clubs and business men's associations, and both auditoriums where Governor Roosevelt spoke were filled to overflowing.

Besides an enthusiastic gathering at Corning, the home of the club that was assaulted at Elmira, the only incident of the day occurred at Geneva, where there was an attempt made to prevent the governor from speaking.

May De Victims of New York Explosion.

PIECES OF BODIES WERE FOUND.

Not Yet Known How Many the Parts May Compose-The Remains of a Man Named Schmidt Discovered-A List of the Missing.

New York, Oct. 31.-All the efforts of the authorities are now directed to cleaning away the ruins of the Tarrant and other buildings wrecked in the great explosion, in the desire to and out how many bodies are buried in them and to ascertain what was the cause of the explosion. The efforts of the searchers for the dead was rewarded by the finding of the remains of H. C. A. Schmidt, of 550 Clinton street, Brooklyn, and the discovery of what looks to be the bodies of three other people. Schmidt was an engraver and had an office on the third floor of 101 Warren street. The body could be seen pinned down under a mess of twisted iron, but could not be gotten at, at the time. The identi-acation was made by a nephew of Schmidt.

At the northwest corner of the Tarrant building, at Warren and Greenwich streets, a mass of clothing and indiscriminate articles was come across and the mass was said to be the bodies of three people. The firemen went to work with a will to dig out the mass, and brought to light a portion of a woman's foot and the top of a crushed-in skull. The skull had long brown hair attached and is supposedly that of a woman.

Both Inspector Brooks and Captain Westervelt were skeptical over the reported large loss oflife. They both said that they did not expect that more than four or five bodies would be found in the ruins.

Playing on the still burning ruins were four engines, and they kept their streams going continually. A revised list showed 32 persons still missing.

Later a portion of a human trunk, probably the abdomen, was dug out and a little later a brown canvas

Still later the firemen found another portion of a skull and a portion of a human back.

Dr. Comer, of the health department. who examined the remains, said they were probably all from the same person, as were the foot and portion of a skull found earlier.

The remains were all found in the Tarrant building.

Later a workman found a black cheviot coat in the exact spot where the human remains had been found. In the pockets were 4 cents and an application for membership in the West End Republican club. Shortly afterward, in the same place, in entirely unrecognizable mass "human flesh was found. A half coat. was also found at this place.

Jury Rendered a First Degree Verdict.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The official] THE MURDERER WAS UNCONCERNED

Played Cards In the Jail a Portion of the Time That the Jury Was Deliberating-Some Points of the Charge of the Judge.

Marysville, O., Oct. 31.-The jury has returned a verdict of murder in the first degree, without recommendation, against Rosslyn Ferrell, the train robber charged with the murder of Express Messenger Lane. The verdict carried with it the death sentence.

Ferrell's demeanor during the whole of the last day's proceedings was one of apparent indifference, and part of the time, while the jury was debating the question that meant life or death to him, he was playing cards in the jail.

The deliberations of the jury occupled 6 hours and 30 minutes. Both Judge Melhorn and the prisoner had retired for the night, and nearly an hour was consumed before court could be convened and the verdict received. The finding was delivered in the usual form. When the indictment was read Ferrell appeared to be taken by surprise and his face flushed. This was the first visible sign of emotion that has been shown by the prisoner during the trial, but he quickly gained his composure and was back to his cell without having uttered a word. Judge Melhorn discharged the jury, and Attorney Camoron, for the defense, at once gave notice of a motion for a new trial. There were not over 20 spectators in the court room when the jury re ported, and there was no excitement.

Ferrell's crime was the murder, on the night of Aug. 10 last, of Charles Lane, an express messenger on a Panhandle eastbound train. The murder was committed for the purpose of robbery. Ferrell secured $1,000 in money from the way safe of the Adams Express company.

Atty. Cameron and Prosecutor Robinson made their arguments and the case being delivered to the jury by Judge Melhorn. His charge was quite lengthy, being devoted largely to instructions for the guidance of the jury in determining the mental status of the prisoner at the time the crime was committed. He especially admonished the jury that no light or flippant doubt or whim and no sentiment or previous impression should be allowed to enter into the case. The jury retired for deliberation.

BRYAN IN OHIO TODAY.

Scheduled to Speak at Toledo-Finished Tour In New York State. His Opinion.

Toledo, Oct. 31.-W. J. Bryan is expected to begin a one-day tour of Ohio by a speech here today.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Oct. 31.-W. J. Bryan concluded the final day of his last campaign tour in this city last night. During the day he spoke at Addison, Hornellsville, Almond, Alfred, Andover, Wellsville, Belmont, Friendship, Cuba, Hinsdale, Olean, Salamanca, Randolph, Jamestown and Dunkirk. All these towns are in the southwestern part of the state and all have been strongly Republican in politics. The meetings of the day were generally well attended and some of them quite enthusiastic

Before leaving here Mr. Bryan said of New York:

"If the reports which come from the various counties where polls have been made can be taken as representing the general sentiment throughout the state we have more than an even chance of carrying the state."

SWORE FALSELY AGAINST POWERS.

Anderson Makes Affidavit-Says Arthur Goebel Gave Him Money.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 31.-The Evening Post prints an affidavit of Finley Anderson, a telegraph operator, upon whose testimony Caleb Powers was convicted of complicity in the murder of Governor Goebel, in which Anderson swears his story told on the stand at Georgetown was perjured. After telling of a conversation with Attorney Campbell at Cincinnati in connection with the Goebel case, he

"I remained in Cincinnati after this conversation with Campbell, and some time after that Arthur Goebel, in his store on the fourth floor, where I had gone at his request, asked me if Powers had not in my presence at Barbourville in January said to me in substance these words, referring to a coat of man, out it won't do him any good,' or something similar to that. I told Goebel that Powers never said anything of that sort in my presence to the best of my knowledge. He told me to think and see if I could not remember it. I could not remember such a remark, and I know that Powers never made it, in my presence; but being urged by Arthur Goebel. I finally concluded to state that he did make such a statement, and so swore upon the trial, which testimony was false.

"Before making my statement to Campbell, Wharton Golden told me to make it as strong as possible, as they (referring to Campbell and Goebel) would take care of me and pro-

"I have since such conversation with Campbell and Arthur Goebel received from Arthur Goebel various sums aggregating about $300, and upon one occasion $10 from Justus Goebel. The last sum I received was on Tuesday. Oct. 23, 1900, which was $5 given to me by Colonel Campbell at his office in Cincinnati."

Roosevelt Well Received at Rochester, N. Y .- Attempt to Prevent His Speaking at Galena.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 31.-When the Roosevelt train arrived here last night the party found great crowds both at the depot and the two halls, and a splendid greeting was accorded the vice presidential candidate. There was an immense parade of clubs and business men's associations, and both auditoriums where Governor Roosevelt spoke were filled to overflowing.

Besides an enthusiastic gathering at Corning, the home of the club that was assaulted at Elmira, the only incident of the day occurred at Geneva, where there was an attempt made to prevent the governor from speaking.

Need of Getting Out the Full Republican Straight.

HELP COMING FROM DEMOCRATS

Who Can Not Endorse Bryan and His Tenets-Let the President's Own State Give Him an Endorsement That Means

Nearly 3,300 voting precincts in Ohio means, with a change of party for three votes in each of them, a difference close upon 20,000 in the result in the state. When we remember that in 1892, Harrison carried this, his native state, over Cleveland by barely a thousand plurality, and at that lost one elector, the importance of even a single vote in each precinct for Ohio, is emphasized very forcibly.

Republicans, remember this fact in every precinct next Tuesday. A full vote means not alone an overwhelming majority against Bryanism in the Buckeye state, but it may mean members of congress that will sustain President McKinley in his second term, and enact the policies that will make the entire administration harmonious and successful to the greater benefit of every interest at home and abroad. It may mean, in your own counties, the election of county officials who will strengthen your line for future contests. Not infrequently in Ohio politics have men in close counties been carried through by a plurality that was much less than a single vote in each precinct of the interested county. No vote can ever be spared. No vote should ever be missed from the polls; and this year, of all years, every supporter of McKinley and his cause should be out early next Tuesday morning and at work, not merely to cast his own ballot, but to bring in the wavering and doubtful, or may be hindered in any way.

Let there be an earnest, zealous rivalry between districts, between counties, between precincts, as to which one shall secure the fullest, most complete representation of its entire voting strength for the Republican cause. The entire work of the campaign of every kind-speeches, and newspapers, and circulation of documents and organization, and everything else that has been or can be done, will be worse than wasted unless it shows up in results at the polls. Nothing but votes will be counted next Tuesday night, and nothing but votes will register the majority for McKinley and Roosevelt and the candidates on the ticket with them.

Remember another thing, Republicans. That is, this year there is every reason to expect a very large vestpocket vote for prosperity and national honor, and against all that is bogus in Bryanism, from men who have always been Democrats, and are today too sincerely Democratic to abide the vagaries of Bryanism. Many of these men, like Don Dickinson, have hoped that they might satisfy their consciences this year by not voting, but many of them, as Bryan's campaign of abuse, of impugnment of the patriotism of the American people, has proceeded, have come, like Mr. Dickinson, to decide that duty demands from them their affirmative vote against such shameless campaigning by the candidate who is masquerading under the good old Democratic name, in defiance of principles that Jefferson, and Jackson, and the founders of the party made the groundwork of their faith. Make it easy for such men to do their duty. Locate them as far as possible, and see to it in very way that you can, that they vote and vote right, rather than that they merely stay away from the polls, and thus cast only half a Vote against Bryanism and all the mischief that it involves at home and abroad.

Bryanism, the combination of peculiar and chiefly evil influences, charged with new ideas foreign heretofore to American thought, and alien to true American principles, and fraught With danger to our internal peace, to our business prosperity, to the welfare of our wage-earners, and our producers, and crowded with danger in our foreign relations, needs not alone to be defeated in the pending election, but to be defeated with such thoroughness, such completeress, such overwhelming majorities in every state, where the people are free to vote, no matter about their color or their previous condition of any kind, that its whole false brood of isms will be rebuked and driven out of sight and from before the public gaze forever. Ohio needs not only a McKinley majority-for that is sure, as certain as the sunrise of election—but such a majority as will give McKinley every congressman possible to be gained in his own state, to support every reasonable policy of the administration, and such an overwhelming, unanswerable plurality, as will leave no chance for mistaking the verdict that Bryanism is wholly bad, and that our people will not have anything to do with it, here or hereafter, now or at any time.

FINAL ROUND-UP.

THE IMPERATIVE DUTY OF THE RE-PUBLICAN VOTE.

Make the X In the Circle Under the Eagle and Let 'Er Go at That-Then Your Vote Will Count For McKibley and Roosevelt.

"Now for the round-up," as Roosevelt would say. What shall the result be? All the speeches and newspaper articles and documents and curbstone conversations of the campaign are to be boiled down into votes on next Tuesday. Nothing now counts but

Republicans, remember to do your duty thoroughly. It is no longer a question of carrying Ohio, but one of making such majorities in McKinley's state as will do our full duty in disposing of Bryanism at once and forever. It is no longer the old Democratic party that we contend with, for hundreds and thousands; yes, tens of aid in getting to the polls those who thousands, of its strongest supporters, its strongest men, in both the rank and file, have been coming to us all through the campaign.

They feel, as Don M. Dickinson, postmaster general in Cleveland's first cabinet, says in his letter, declaring that he will vote for McKinley, that they "recognize scarcely a vestige of Democratic principles in either the Chicago or Kansas City platforms.' Scarcely a precinct but contains Democrats who say, with Dickinson, "I am a Democrat on all the fundamental principles on which our party joined lowing in the father's footsteps in battle in the past," and because they this particular, and is making friends are such Democrats, Jeffersonian Dem- by the thousands wherever he apocrats, Jackson Democrats, Cleveland pears and addresses the masses. He Democrats, they are opposed to Bryanism, root and branch.

There are enough of these men to make an immense difference in the Ohio majority. Search for them, locate them, encourage them. Their disposition has been, among many of them, to stay away from the polls. They have felt, as Mr. Dickinson says, that they "might with a clear conscience stay away from the polls." But they must now see with him, too, that "Mr. Bryan's speeches, particularly his later ones, have destroyed that illusion, and it convinced me that I must vote at the coming election." The Democratic stay-at-home vote in recent years, during the party's apostasy from its own principles, has been a powerful negative influence against the success of the organization labelled "Democratic," has dragged it down to defeat; but now more is needed. It is the duty of old-line Democrats, their duty to themselves and discourse is putting it very mildly. He their party and their country, to help make the defeat of Bryanism (a hodgepodge, the like of which was never seen before and should never be seen again), so overwhelming that no political trickster of the Nebraska brand will ever again, in the name of fusion, cater to the passions and prejudices of the people, irrespective of all principles, to achieve the presidency for

Add Altgeld to the lengthening list of Bryanite abusers of the American soldiers. At Brooklyn he said that "our soldiers are laying waste fields, burning houses, shooting down women and children." Can any soldier's friends or family vote for the party that thus maligns him?

Democratic Scheme to Carry Ohio For Bryan.

There are many ways in which this might be attempted, and every one of these should be guarded against. One is, to call a Republican ticket as a Democratic one, in the count of the vote. Another, and a very clever one, is for a Democratic judge who is "calling" the tickets one by one, to pick up two tickets at a time, thus losing one vote to McKinley and the whole Republican ticket every time this is done.

A single Democrat, on an election board, may thus reverse the verdict of his precinct. The ballots are destroyed when the count is completed, thus our fall precluding any recount. See to it that the count is an honest one. The Republicans have nothing to fear from an honest ballot and a straight count.

Republican precinct committeemen in every precinct in Ohio have the legal right to see that EVERY BAL-LOT is not only called, but is called correctly. Insist on your legal rights!

Men who can be relied upon absolutely should be appointed watchers at EVERY polling place in the state, and they should be instructed to see that neither Republicans nor Democrats shall be cheated out of the votes which legally belong to them. Republicans want honest elections. The believe in the rule of the majority, and not in fraud and cheating.

Francis Murphy, the great apostle of temperance, has a world-wide reputation for eloquence. His son, Thomwill be here on Friday night, November 2, and address the Republican meeting at the wigwam. Don't fail to hear Thomas E. Murphy. The following editorial from a leading Pennsylvania newspaper will show in what estimation he is held as a public speaker:

"Among the very able speakers who addressed the immense Republican mass meeting held in Patton Monday night of last week of whom we cannot refrain from giving particular quire at 341 Fourth street. mention, especially from the fact that he is a resident of the great county of Cambria. The gentleman to whom we refer is Edward Murphy, Esq., of Johnstown, who is a son of the Hon. Francis J. Murphy, of national fame, and a brother of ex-District Attorney Robert S. Murphy. To say that it was a grand treat to listen to Mr. Murphy's is not only one of the very best orators in this great comonwealth, but ranks among the highest from a national standpoint as well. Need of Getting Out the Full Republican Straight.

HELP COMING FROM DEMOCRATS

Who Can Not Endorse Bryan and His Tenets-Let the President's Own State Give Him an Endorsement That Means Something.

Nearly 3,300 voting precincts in Ohio means, with a change of party for three votes in each of them, a difference close upon 20,000 in the result in the state. When we remember that in 1892, Harrison carried this, his native state, over Cleveland by barely a thousand plurality, and at that lost one elector, the importance of even a single vote in each precinct for Ohio, is emphasized very forcibly.

Republicans, remember this fact in every precinct next Tuesday. A full vote means not alone an overwhelming majority against Bryanism in the Buckeye state, but it may mean members of congress that will sustain President McKinley in his second term, and enact the policies that will make the entire administration harmonious and successful to the greater benefit of every interest at home and abroad. It may mean, in your own counties, the election of county officials who will strengthen your line for future contests. Not infrequently in Ohio politics have men in close counties been carried through by a plurality that was much less than a single vote in each precinct of the interested county. No vote can ever be spared. No vote should ever be missed from the polls; and this year, of all years, every supporter of McKinley and his cause should be out early next Tuesday morning and at work, not merely to cast his own ballot, but to bring in the wavering and doubtful, or aid in getting to the polls those who may be hindered in any way.

Let there be an earnest, zealous rivalry between districts, between counties, between precincts, as to which one shall secure the fullest, most complete representation of its entire voting strength for the Republican cause. The entire work of the campaign of every kind-speeches, and newspapers, and circulation of documents and organization, and everything else that has been or can be done, will be worse than wasted unless it shows up in results at the polls. Nothing but votes will be counted next Tuesday night, and nothing but votes will register the majorthe candidates on the ticket with

A single Democrat, on an election board, may thus reverse the verdict of his precinct. The ballots are destroyed when the count is completed, thus Our fall precluding any recount. See to it that the count is an honest one. The Republicans have nothing to fear from an honest ballot and a straight count.

Republican precinct committeemen in every precinct in Ohio have the legal right to see that EVERY BAL-LOT is not only called, but is called correctly. Insist on your legal rights!

Men who can be relied upon absolutely should be appointed watchers at EVERY polling place in the state, and they should be instructed to see that neither Republicans nor Democrats shall be cheated out of the votes which legally belong to them. Republicans want honest elections. The believe in the rule of the majority, and not in fraud and cheating.

FRANCIS MURPHY

Is the Acme of Eloquence, And His Son'is Following in His Footsteps.

Francis Murphy, the great apostle of temperance, has a world-wide reputation for eloquence. His son, Thomas E. Murphy, attorney at law, is following in the father's footsteps in this particular, and is making friends by the thousands wherever he apwill be here on Friday night, November 2, and address the Republican meeting at the wigwam. Don't fail to hear Thomas E. Murphy. The following editorial from a leading Pennsylvania newspaper will show in what estimation he is held as a public speaker:

"Among the very able speakers who mass meeting held in Patton Monday not refrain from giving particular mention, especially from the fact that he is a resident of the great county of Cambria. The gentleman to whom we refer is Edward Murphy, Esq., of Johnstown, who is a son of the Hon. Francis J. Murphy, of national fame, and a brother of ex-District Attorney Robert S. Murphy. To say that it was a grand treat to listen to Mr. Murphy's discourse is putting it very mildly. He is not only one of the very best orators in this great comonwealth, but ranks among the highest from a national standpoint as well. One is simply carried away by the wonderful flow of language that comes from his lips, which he paints and illustrates with the ease of an artist."

Women Who Work

Nine out of ten women are afflicted with some of the common ailments known as female diseases. Among women whose employment requires them to stand on their feet or sit in the same position all day, not one in twenty-five escape these troubles. The average feminine constitution cannot, unaided, withstand the strain to which steady, trying work subjects them. The organs of woman-hood are so delicate and finely adjusted that the inevitable result of constant standing, lifting, stooping or straining is displacement of vital parts. The disorder is usually slight at first, but soon develops into irregular or painful menstruction, leucorrhoea or falling of the womb. Wine of Cardui is the right remedy for female weakness. As such it is offered to you. Wine of Cardui will not perform miracles, but it will, if taken as directed, insure painless and regular operation of the menstrual function. It will drive out every trace of leucorrhoa, and will so strengthen the ligaments that falling of the womb will be an impossibility. Don't you think it would pay you to try a medicine with such a record as that? You can get a $1 bottle of Wine of Cardui at any drug store and use it in the privacyof your home.

Women Who Work

Nine out of ten women are afflicted with some of the common ailments known as female diseases. Among women whose employment requires them to stand on their feet or sit in the same position all day, not one in twenty-five escape these troubles. The average feminine consti-tution cannot, unaided, withstand the strain to which steady, trying work subjects them. The organs of woman-hood are so delicate and finely adjusted that the inevitable result of constant standing, lifting, stooping or straining is displacement of vital parts. The disorder is usually slight at first, but soon develops into irregular or painful men-struction, leucorrhœa or falling of the womb. Wine of Cardui is the right remedy for female weakness. As such it is offered to you. Wine of Cardui will not perform miracles, but it will, if taken as directed, insure painless and regular operation of the menstrual function. It will drive out every trace of leucorrhoa, and will so strengthen the ligaments that falling of the womb will be an impossibility. Don't you think it would pay you to try a medicine with such a record as that? You can get a $1 bottle of Wine of Cardui at any drug store and use it in the

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1900.

Republicans Turned Out En Masse to Hear the Campaign Speeches Last Night.

HON. GEORGE W. PRINCE

Of Illinois, and Hon. J. Rankin Martin, of Beaver Falls, Ably Discussed the Issues.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING.

The Republican mass meeting at the wigwam last evening was very largely attended and the enthusiasm was a good prediction that McKinley and Roosevelt will carry this city by an almost unanimous vote.

The following list of vice presidents were read:

W. F. Dawson, Mack Anderson, Thomas Todd, William Frazier, Alex Mackintosh, William Allen, George Smith, Frank Knowles, Colonel H. R. Hill, J. A. Webster, J. H. Davidson, William Beardmore, Homer Twaddle, Fred Ackerman, W. H. Padden, Sam Eardley, C. D. Lentz, J. C. Allison, M. B. Louthan, Dr. J. W. Gardner and Jere Ansley, of St. Clair township.

Chairman Marshall made the opening address and in a well chosen speech introduced J. Rankin Martin, of Beaver Falls.

Hon. J. R. Martin, of Beaver Falls, formerly prosecuting attorney of Beaver county, made a brief address along the line of the main issues of the campaign. His talk was teeming with strong facts, concise arguments and occasional anecdotes and pleasantries, holding the close and earnest attention of his large audience, which showed its appreciation by earnest bursts of applause.

Mr. Martin gave facts and figures in connection with Republican and Democratic administrations, demonstrating to his orators the good results which followed a wise protective tariff under McKinley and the Republican party, and the demoralization of the nation and its industries under the administration of Grover Cleveland, the Democratic party and the pernicious Wilson bill, a measure which brought untold misery not only to East Liverpool, but to the nation at large. The speaker closed his remarks with an eloquent appeal to the voters present to cast their ballots in favor of McKinley and Roosevelt and the Republican ticket in its entirety, putting a cross right under the great bird of freedom, the American eagle.

Dr. Marshall then introduced Hon. George Washington Prince, representative in congress from the 10th Illinois district.

Mr. Prince, who is a most eloquent speaker, in part said:

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—I regret that your chairman took the method he did of introducing me as George Washington Prince, since it will compel me to tell the truth. Had he simply mentioned me as a member of congress, it would have given me much greater latitude.

"The people of this congressional

NATION'S HONOR AND PROSPERITY

Let manhood and common sense guide, direct and control your ballot. Cast party prejudice and partisanship aside. Four short years ago there was want and suffering and soup houses in the land. You know that this is a plain statement of plain truth. You know that Soup Houses existed in the City of East Liverpool. You know that women and children were forced, by the keen pangs of hunger, to patronize this charity. Strong and true men, who were willing to work could work have been had, ate the gift of charity at the hands of their friends.

WHAT WAS THE GAUSE OF THIS?

You know, and I know, and every reading, thinking, observant man and woman knows that this suffering and want and woe was caused on account of incompetent men being at the helm of this great government. The infamous Wilson Bill and the pernicious and criminally foolish doctrine of Free Trade did much to bring the curse upon us. During Grover Cleveland's administration; during the reign of the Democratic-Popocratic parties, Cleveland and his followers had full sway, having control of both Houses at Washington City; and, instead of decreasing the national indebtedness, they ran into debt and piled up an additional debt of Two Hundred and Sixty Millions of Dollars, and compelled us to become a Nation of Borrowers, at a heavy rate of interest, in order that government and people might simply exist; and they left this heritage of debt for a Republican administration to wipe out.

THESE ARE STERN FACTS.

And the great masses of the mechanics and toilers of the Nation know them to be facts, and you cannot fool the common people longer.

NOW NOTE THE CHANGE

Not quite four years ago the people called the Democratic-Popocratic party to a strict account and turned them cut of office. And, oh my countrymen and fellow workingmen, what a change, under God's blessing, under the beneficent rule and wise control of William McKinley and a Republican form of government. Mills, mines, glass houses, potteries and every form of industry in the nation have opened up. Work for everybody who wants work, at good wages and shorter hours. An immense increase in the per capita of money to our people—the common people, the strength and bulwark of our country. Ring the truth out jubilantly, men and women and children.

THE GREATEST ERA OF PROSPERITY

WILLIAM M'KINLEY

Has been tested and tried. He has been weighed in the balance and not found wanting. He has kept his promises in the letter and in the spirit. And now, in the name of fairness; in the name of square treatment; in the name of justice and right; in the name of Old Glory and our national honor; in the name of your wife and children, go to the polls on November 6, 1900, and cast your ballot for district have on numberless occasions had the pleasure of hearing your old representative in congress speak from the rostrum, and it is my opinion that I am a pretty small peg to put in a hole so large as that filled by our own McKinley."

The speaker then described the district which he represented in congress; how at the end of the last century the Spanish flag had waived over the very territory now included in the makeup of his congressional district. When plans were adopted by the law-makers of that period whereby that territory might be made a part of the United States there was the same sort of a howl about imperialism on the part of the same sort of citizens who were having so much to say along the same line at the present time.

However, the spirit of advancement and progress had predominated and today, instead of 13 our flag contains 45 stars, and this is the greatest country upon the face of the earth.

Illinois has a warm feeling for Ohio. In 1860, during the progress of the Republican national convention in Chicago, when no one knew whether it was to be the great Seward of New York, or the magnificent Lincoln of Illinois.

Ohio stood out for Illinois and her representative. We waited a good many years to pay that debt of gratitude, but when the opportunity afforded we were not found wanting. It was paid, however, and I am proud of the fact that we had the opportunity of rallying to the support of so grand a man as William McKinley.

The speaker showed how since Harrison's time, 1893, $14,000,000 of the great national debt had been wiped out, and still the Republican party had been accused of not wanting to pay off the national obligations; that it was the policy of the party to legislate in favor of the bond holders and bankers.

Cleveland, during his first administration, had been handicapped by not having control of the senate, but in 1892 the party of Grover Cleveland had entered into full and absolute control of the government of the United States.

McKinley had told the speaker at that time how the pottery industry had been effected. How different had been the record of the two men from this district, one furnishing the potteries of this community all the work and more than they could do, while the other, right from your own town, had provided the building for a soup house.

In 1897, $260,000,000 was added to the national debt. This was under a Democratic house and senate. In the opinion of the speaker the Democrats didn't know how to run a government, and that recalled to his mind a time when he had heard Governor Ogelsby, of Illinois, make an address, during the course of which he said: "Why these infernal sap suckers have the impudence to assert they have the ability to run this government. Why it's all we can do to run it ourselves."

We pay annually to the soldiers and orphans of the rebellion more than $250,000,000 and I am one of the men who do not believe we pay them half enough for the service rendered the republic.

Just stop to think what would have been the conditions had we not succeeded in that great struggle—if we had not retained that territory south of Mason's and Dixon's line. Think of the trouble we would have had. I am here to say if we had not succeeded in those dark days from '61 to '65 I would not be here addressing you

In the general scramble for gold, as there is not enough to go round, it would necessarily (under the greater demand than there was supply) go to a premium, with the inevitable result that the $829,000,000 of gold and gold coin certificates now in circulation in the United States treasury (U. S. treasury circular of Oct. 1, 1900) would be hoarded and go out of circulation, for who would pay in gold, when he could pay in cheaper silver?

As the total circulation of gold, silver, greenbacks, treasury notes, bank bills, silver certificates and all other kinds of money in the United States was on October 1, 1900, $2,113,000,000, forcing $829,000,000 of gold out of circulation would reduce the money in circulation about two-fifths.

That is to say, where there is now $5 of money in circulation, then there sudden contraction of the currency apart from any panic on account of dollars or silver certificates; and conthe depreciation of the currency, cause a stringency and panic such as we have never known.

But coming on top of the other panbe difficult to describe. Thus railroad dollars or a premium on gold. stocks with gold mortgages ahead of them (as gold must be bought to pay interest, thus increasing if not doubling this fixed charge, and to that extent diminishing or entirely wiping out the net earnings applicable to dividends) with earnings diminished by the business collapse, would in the general panic become absolutely unsaleable.

The bottom would have dropped out of them. Banks, therefore, would become absolutely unable to realize on their collateral, and though a combination might save the strongest for a time, ultimately they too must go to the wall. The demoralization would the bill by the house caucus because be complete.

Factories Closed.

In this general crash all factories, mills, building operations, etc., would and that with such a provision it shut down, and all classes of work- might be impossible to get the bill men, mechanics and laborers except through congress."-N. mass of unemployed for the little work stances. left, it is clear that wages, instead of rising, must in the near future fall, even though paid for in depreciated dollars, because of the many who the creditor class alike believe it want employment, and must take it at any price to save themselves and their families from starving.

With no wages, the unemployed laborers could buy neither food nor clothing, and the diminished demand would cause the prices of grain, cotton and all farm products to fall, as is always the case even in small panics; and such want, suffering and misery would be entailed upon the laboring classes as we have never known before.

Of course all mortgages past due or in default would be immediately called in, and if not paid, foreclosed, and the mortgagors largely wiped out. Who Would Lend Money?

It is needless to say that there would be substantially no money to loan, for who would loan 100 cents, or even 95 or 90, in order, later on, to get back but 51? And who would lend on a gold basis at 6 per cent, when he could 1903, is the earliest date at which trous. make 100 per cent in buying bargains a free silver senate could meet.

Would the Gold Act Protect Us? gold?

The gold act does make it the duty of the secretary of the treasury to maintain all forms of money issued or coined by the government at a parity with gold, and provides a gold reserve fund of $150,000,000 to be replenished by sales of 3 per cent U. S. gold bonds, to be used to redeem U. S. notes and treasury notes, and "for no other purpose;" and provides that "the silver dollars held against the house itself in favor of sound outstanding silver certificates" shall be used for the redemption of silver certificates, and "for no other purpose;" but it fails to provide any gold fund or any means by which he can obtain gold to redeem or exchange for silver dollars or silver certificates. Hence the moment the free gold in the treasury (i. e., all over the $150,000,-000 gold reserve and the special deposits for gold coin certificates) of which there is today but $73,000,000, would be but $3. Such a radical and is exhausted, not a dollar of gold can the secretary of the treasury get would of itself alone, and entirely under this act to exchange for silver sequently the act leaves him in such case, even without the repeal of this act and without the passage of any free silver coinage bill, utterly poweric, the ruin it would spread would less to prevent a depreciation of silver

I felt the Republican party was to blame for not passing a more stringent bill until I saw Senator Burrow's explanation, viz:

"A more simple provision, which was seriously considered by a Republican caucus of the house, was to make it obligatory of the secretary of the treasury to give gold or silver coin on demand. With such a provision any person receiving silver in payment of government obligations could at once demand gold and the effect would be to compel the treasurer to maintain gold payments."

"This provision was not inserted in the Republican managers feared if they once began to tinker with the measure it would be difficult to stop,

So it seems the Republicans did the Under the keen competition of this best they could under the circum-

This panic, as we have seen, Mr. Bryan fully admits will take place. Therefore it is conceded that the consequences of that panic will follow his election.

How Would it Work With Farmers.

If a farmer hoped to profit by a 51cent dollar to pay off his mortgage at about half its face, how would it work? On the 7th of November next there will be no more silver dollars in circulation than if McKinley was elect- to two years, and would take till Noed, nor would there be on the 5th of March next, since no more could be coined or issued until after a free silver coinage law had been passed.

With probably a majority in the senate in favor of sound money, even if Bryan is elected, and with their terms not expiring until 1903, December 1, in debt must inevitably prove disas-

Such a law could not, of course, be passed without the most desperate But perhaps some one may ask does fight by its opponents, and, as the not the gold act make it the duty of fight against the Wilson bill lasted the secretary of the treasury to keep all summer, is not likely to become silver dollars at a parity with gold, a law before April of 1894, and unless and hence, until it is repealed, or a the house of representatives of 1903 Walnut street, left last night for Safree silver coinage bill is passed, are also in favor of free silver, as would it not prevent a depreciation well as the senate, it could not be of silver dollars and a premium on passed at all, as the panic and crash son. nents, and probably add to their numbers too, both in the house and even in the senate, by reason of silver politicians seeing the error of their ways under the pressure exerted by their home constituents (just as we saw a majority of 20 of the senate opposed to the repeal of the Sherman silver law in March of 1893, changed by August of that year, under a much less severe panic, to a majority in favor of repeal) so that there is not only a possibility, but even a probability that with a free silver majority in the senate in 1903, the 1902 elections to the house of representatives held in the midst of the panic, may have rendered money, and thus the panic itself might defeat the passage of a bill altogether, and in that case the farmer and the country would be left floundering in the panic, and fail to reap the hoped for profit.

And if the senate were immediately for free silver on Bryan's election, and an extra session were called, the law could not be passed until September. 1901.

Then to coin 829,000,000 silver dollars to replace that number of gold dollars driven out of circulation would require at the present speed, over eight years. If the printing press was resorted to, as the Populists suggest, it would require, at the present rate for treasury notes, on the special paper therefor, of $1,250,000 a day, over a year, which would put relief off till 1905 (or September, 1902 as the case might be), or either four years and a half (or about two years) after Mr. Bryan's election.

Now as the gold would have been driven out of circulation, it is evident that until the coinage bill became a law, or until April, 1904, or September, 1901, or either for several years, or else for 10 months after Mr. Bryan's election, we would have only three-fifths as much money as now, and at the end of the one or five years additional, no more than now.

During all of these terrible years (or year) we would be suffering from such stringency, panic, and depreciation of values, as we have never seen before, and the prostration and dry rot following the panic would continue for years afterwards.

Business activity would not return at once with restored currency, as credit is a creature of slow growth. It took six years to recover from the panic of 1873, and would probably require ten years or more to recover

With new corn at 30 cents a bushel in Illinois (in 1896 it was 18) and 25 in Kansas and Nebraska (in 1896 reduced by the panic, the enforced idleness of the laboring classes and the consequently diminished demand, from 5 to 10 cents a bushel, after the laborer has been paid and the farmer's store bills settled, how much would be left for taxes and interest and principal on his mortgage?

And if his mortgage falls due, or if he defaults in either interest or taxes, will not the mortgagee want his 100 cents instead of 51, and foreclose? Although foreclosure takes from one vember of 1901 or 1902, yet as the effects of the panic would still continue, and with practically no money to be borrowed, there could be but one result, the farmer must lose his farm and become a renter.

The outcome therefore for farmers

Born in Kentucky he always had a kindly feeling for them. "With malice toward none and charity for all" he went into eternity.

One of the first duties performed in 1897 was to assemble congress in special session for the purpose of readjusting the tariff in order that the factories might be started and prosperity return to the nation.

In a very short time the infamous Wilson tariff had been knocked out and the Dingley bill substituted. The effect of this move had been marvelous, and one of the very first cities to feel the benefits of the Republican administration was East Liverpool.

Next to them were the bituminous coal miners, who were advanced from 25 to 49 cents per ton. Work was resumed in work shop and factory, the products of the farm were purchased at fair prices, children were happy, well fed and clothed. They looked at the school house without dread, as they had books and shoes, and the winter had no terrors for

At the time the Roberts affair was easily superior to any other man in congress at that supreme moment.

I want you to re-elect him. He couldn't appoint all his supporters to postoffices. Don't be sore heads. I have about 150 appointments to make myself, and know how it goes. My plan is to make the appointments regardless of anything but efficient service; then stand 'em up and tell them to match 'em if they can.

The reason the currency bill did not reach the president before it did was for the very simple reason that the Democrats and Populists controlled the senate, and congress went no further than to frame the bill and get things in readiness at the session of 1897. They returned to their homes and told the people to send senators and representatives to the state legislatures who would in turn select Republican U. S. senators. This was done, and, as a result a majority was obtained in both houses, and the act providing for a single gold standard was passed March 14, 1900.

The products of the farm have ineased in price, the wages of the working man have gone up, the hours of labor have been shortened till they are now talking of a universal eighthour day.

Four years ago the hours were not enough. Workmen were begging for one hour a day then, and were glad to get it at any price.

The speaker here dwelt on the present financial policy, making it perfectly clear to all present; showing the contrast between the policy of Cleveland when he honored the money from Wall street, brokers and bankers, and that of McKinley when he said: "I will give my people a chance to buy these bonds."

The bankers were not permitted to purchase in large quantities until the bonds of smaller denomination were disposed of. Mr. Prince illustrated this argument by the case which occurred in his own district, where the bank in a small town wanted $10,000, and they were refused until the school teachers and ministers had been sup- We lead; let those who can follow THE BIG STORE.

He contrasted the plan of Bryan in forcing the 16 to 1 plank upon the Kansas City convention, with that of the will of the people in nominating Roosevelt for vice president.

The paramount issue, according to Democracy, was imperialism. They were always looking after the welfare of some fellow in a free trade by the president upon taking his seat foreign country. Being on the ground at the time the speaker was able to follow the causes and agitations which led up to the Spanish-American war.

He handled the question in a masterly manner, showing that Bryan and his colleagues had done more agitating than had any one else, and when the prevailing conditions were brought about by this same agitation they had flopped completely to the other side.

In referring to the conditions of surrender and the agreement of the United States to pay $20,000,000 for the possessions of Spain in the Philippines, Mr. Prince likened the president to Grant at Appomattox, who permitted the vanquished foe to retain his side arms and the army to keep their horses for use on their farms.

Sojourning Now in the Fine Military Home at Dayton, He Speaks for McKinley.

We have had the pleasure of communicating with Comrade Steirjohan by letter, and find him an intelligent enthusiast for McKinley, Roosevelt and the entire Republican ticket; a man with genuine contempt for the old copperhead element, and bitter in his dislike for Bryan and Stevenson and all men who would haul down "Old Glory." Read his letter. speaks in no uncertain terms respect ing the coming election:

National Military Home, Ohio, October 27, 1900.

Harry Palmer, Esq.

Dear Comrade-Your very friendly and cordial letter of the 23d received. I wish to thank you for the good words so kindly spoken and the friendly tone of your whole letter.

We are whooping it up for McKinley and Roosevelt; also for the flag, "Old Glory," and, incidentally, prosperity, good money on a gold basis and no quarter for copperheads.

I have not forgotten the day you left Pittsburg with your regiment, and I believe your wife was too late to see you leave.

Accompanying this I send a money order for $1 25 for three months subscription for your paper.

With the hope that we will have the pleasure of rejoicing in a victory for McKinley, with a greater majority than before, I remain yours in F. C.

THE MT. PLEASANT MURDER.

Retribution, hot and swift and sure, fell upon the murderers of Paymaster Hosler. The crime was committed on the road from Mt. Pleasant, Westmoreland county, Pa., to Alverton, a small village in the near vicinity. The paymaster had $5,000.00 with him, and four foreigners, Poles, attempted to transfer the money to their possession. They shot the paymaster dead, when a brave and gallant negro, Harry Burgess, driver of the conveyance, shot one of the robbers dead and fatally wounded another, the other two would-be robbers escaping. Lieutenant John L. Thompson, a hero of the Spanish-American and Filipino war, and a crack marksman, holding the office of constable, led a posse after the two uninjured criminals and discovered them in a thicket. One of them fired at Thompson and the latter shot him dead. The other fellow surrendered and is now in the Greensburg jail, and has confessed the whole plot. Lieutenant Thompson is a personal friend of Captain Harry Palmer, and the two were associated for many years with the rifle team which annually competed for the championship at Mt. Her Husband Files a Cross Petition In Which He Says Something.

MAKES INTERESTING READING

The Wooster Republican prints the following article which will be of decided interest to many people in this city, as Mrs. Thomas is the widow of the late Attorney A. R. Mackall, of this city:

Many residents of the city, especially those of the Second ward, remember the woman who was Mrs. A. R. Mackall. They will also recall that she was received into good society for a time. It will be remembered that household goods and stored the same Andy M. Thomas, a young man about in a warehouse at Wapakoneta, withtown, entered her employ as coachman. It was not long until it was reported that Mrs. Mackall had formed an attachment for her coachman. Then Mrs. Mackall was dropped very suddenly by her lady acquaintances. Not many months after this, Mrs. Mackall, her children, Thomas, the horses and the dogs departed for Virginia.

Mrs. Thomas married her coachman May 23, 1899. They returned to Wooster after some months and took possession of the pretty home on East Bowman street. The coachman's wife got the Klondike stare from those whom the had counted as friends. Life in Wooster was not pleasant, and they moved to Wapakoneta, O., where Mrs. Thomas bought a drug store in which Mr. Thomas was installed.

It was supposed that all was lovely between them until a few days ago when it was learned that she had applied for a divorce, and had Thomas apprehended when he was about to leave with her horses and dogs.

Thomas has filed a cross-petition to that of Mrs. Thomas. In this he alalleges "that almost ever since their marriage the plaintiff has continuously annoyed defendant in different ways; that she has held frequent correspondence with other men, against the protest of defendant, and has refused at all times to divulge to defendant the nature or kind of correspondence being held with different men; that said plaintiff, during nearly all of their said married life, has maintained a separate lock box in the different postoffices at which plaintiff and defendant have received mail; that she has at all times refused defendant access to said lock box, or to examine any of the mail therein received. Defendant says that said plaintiff has a violent, vicious and ungovernable temper, and that she frequently becomes violently and viciously mad and acts in an insane manner; that while in such fits of anger she has frequently struck at defendant; that she has also threatened from time to time to shoot defendant, and on two different occasions at the town of Hampton, Va., this plaintiff drew a loaded revolver upon this defendant duced. and threatened to shoot him unless he delivered certain articles of wearing apparel.

"Defendant says he at no time has struck plaintiff, and that he at no time and that the offenses alleged in plain- fice.

tiff's petition consisted in simply preventing plaintiff from violently and viciously assaulting defendant. He says that while they lived at Hampton News she frequently left him without any excuse therefor and went to New- Told His Tale of Woe at the East End port News, and when he protested against her frequent absences, she would say she was simply going away to see whether or not by this means she could drive him away.

"Defendant says that in a fit of anger said plaintiff left her home in a partially disordered condition and started to run toward the town of Newport News, about six miles distant; that he, fearing her mind was unbalanced, started to follow plaintiff; that she suddenly turned around and ran back, declaring that she would kill herself and that he would be blamed for her death; that at the same time she fell down in the road, tearing her hair, and declaring that she intended to kill herself. He also says that she continued her violent and vicious way of living at other places. That on or about the 1st day of July, 1900, she left their home at Wapakoneta, without any cause or justification therefor; that she went to the city of Columbus, and remained there five days and that he went there and coaxed her to return home; he also says that she left him on the 6th of October, declaring that she would never live with defendant, and just prior to leaving, removed all their out advising him where she was going. He also charges her with gross neglect of duty in not performing her household duties, and compelled him, as well as the rest of the family, to use beds continuously without changing the clothing or without making them up. He asks for divorce and alimony."

EXCITED ITALIAN

·Fire Station Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday a very much excited Italian came to the fire station and inquired for an officer, saying a murder had been committed. Upon questioning the fellow Officer Hamilton found that he was the man who had been murdered and he was a lively looking corpse. He insisted upon the officer accompanying him up the road where Contractor McLaughlin has a number of Italians employed. When they arrived they found all the men at work and inquiries made by the officer developed the fact that the injured man had suggested to three others of the Italians that they do more work and less talking, whereupon they made at him with shovels and picks. A negro interfered and hit one of the dagoes with a pick, inflicting a gasn on his face.

This frightened the man and he ran to the East End for assistance.

Contractor McLaughlin assured the officer he would straighten the affair out and no arrests were made.

ELIJAH W. HILL.

Real Estate Dealer,

Second Floor Grand Building, Corner Sixth Washington, EAST LIVERPOOL, O.

DO YOU WISH TO BUY OR SELL REAL ESTATE? If so, consult us. We have the facilities for accommodating you. Having made real estate dealing a specialty for some time, we have become established in the business. Every day brings us new business and nearly every day sees a deal consummated. ur volume of business grows out of the reasonableness of our charges. We never speculate on other peoples' property. The price set by the owner is the price the purchaser pays. We do not conduct our business on the "get rich quick" plan. Our patrons appreciate this and show it by sending us other patrons. Owners of property who desire to sell the same will do well to place it on our sale list. Those intending to purchase property will do well to consult us before buying.

In all of our business we take care of the interests of both owner and purchaser. We are neither for the one or the other. Justice between both parties is what we seek.

Owners who want a quick sale and will offer a genuine bargain can be accommodated at all times by us. Purchasers, who want a bargain, can take advantage of these offers if they will let us know that they are in the market for such.

Those who have but little money, say from $50 to $100, can buy a home from us at any time, the balance being paid on installments at the rate of $1 monthly to the $100 of indebtedness, which pays both interest and principal, with privilege of paying faster. The large assortment of properties we have constantly on sale enables us to usually suit you.

DO YOU WISH FIRE INSURANCE? This is another branch of our business. We represent ten different companies, all of high standard. We insure dwellings, barns, mercantile buildings, factories, merchandise, household goods, etc. We write at regular rates. We think it unfair to give what is known as "cut rates." As a basis for dwelling rates, we would say that a frame, slate roof building which stands unexposed by other buildings for the space of 25 feet on all sides, will cost you 35 cents per $100 insurance for one year; 70 cents per $100 for three years; or, $1 per $100 for five years. This applies to household goods as well. Household goods are just as valuable, proportionately to you as the house is to its owner, and we often wonder why so many owners of household goods let themselves be exposed to loss, and often lose them when insurance rates are so reasonable.

BONDS, STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS we also handle. We can sell you local stocks, bonds and investments, and also corporation, bank and railroad stocks and bonds. Not much business in this line has developed here yet, but by your co-operation with us, either as a buyer or seller, will be all that is necessary to develop such.

HOUSE RENTING as a business is what East Liverpool has needed for some time. In our renting department, you find such and every day is adding to its utility. If you have any properties to rent place them with us and see if it does not profit you.

All kinds of notarial work executed, such as acknowledgements, writing of wills, deeds, mortgages, contracts and agreements. We also procure marriage licenses.

Loaning of money on real estate is another feature of our business. We negotiate loans for a reasonable charge, the rate of interest depending on the class of security and amount wanted. Those who have money to put out should avail themselves of our facilities for doing this kind of business. No charges to the lender.

To the public we extend free of charge our services in the way of supplying information of a general nature concerning our city and vicinity. We try to have at all times just what you want to know.

We open this week a free bureau for the accommodation of those who are seeking houses to rent and landlords who are seeking tenants. We are constantly besieged with applications for houses for rent. To this end we invite all owners of rentable houses in the city or vicinity to let us know when they want or will want a tenant. If they will do so we will refer inquirers to them, making no charge whatever, either to applicant or owner. Landlords by doing this need never have a house empty for more than a

In the above we have endeavored to give you the general nature of the business in which we engage. We ask but a continuance of the patronage of the past, and, as then, we will endeavor to render you honest, accurate and valuable service.

PIECES OF BODIES WERE FOUND.

Not Yet Known How Many the Parts May Compose—The Remains of a Man Named Schmidt Discovered-A List of the Missing.

New York, Oct. 31.-All the efforts of the authorities are now directed to cleaning away the ruins of the Tarrant and other buildings wrecked in the great explosion, in the desire to and out how many bodies are buried In them and to ascertain what was the cause of the explosion. The efforts of the searchers for the dead was rewarded by the finding of the remains of H. C. A. Schmidt, of 550 Clinton street, Brooklyn, and the discovery of what looks to be the bodies of three other people. Schmidt was an engraver and had an office on the third floor of 101 Warren street. The body could be seen pinned down under a mess of twisted iron, but could not be gotten at, at the time. The identification was made by a nephew of Schmidt.

At the northwest corner of the Tarrant building, at Warren and Greenwich streets, a mass of clothing and indiscriminate articles was come across and the mass was said to be the bodies of three people. The firemen went to work with a will to dig out the mass, and brought to light a portion of a woman's foot and the top of a crushed-in skull. The skull had long brown hair attached and is supposedly that of a woman.

Both Inspector Brooks and Captain Westervelt were skeptical over the reported large loss oflife. They both said that they did not expect that more than four or five bodies would be found in the ruins. Playing on the still burning ruins were four engines, and they kept their streams going continually.

A revised list showed 32 persons still missing.

Later a portion of a human trunk, probably the abdomen, was dug out and a little later a brown canvas!

Still later the firemen found another portion of a skull and a portion of a human back.

Dr. Comer, of the health department, who examined the remains, said they were probably all from the same person, as were the foot and portion of a skull found earlier.

The remains were all found in the Tarrant building.

Later a workman found a black cheviot coat in the exact spot where the human remains had been found. In the pockets were 4 cents and an application for membership in the End Republican club. Shortly afterward, in the same place,

FERRELL MUST

Jury Rendered a First Degree He told me to think and see if I could Verdict.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The official | THE MURDERER WAS UNCONCERNED

Played Cards In the Jail a Portion of the Time That the Jury Was Deliberating-Some Points of the Charge of the Judge.

Marysville, O., Oct. 31.-The jury has returned a verdict of murder in the first degree, without recommendation, against Rosslyn Ferrell, the train robber charged with the murder of Express Messenger Lane. The verdict carried with it the death sen-

Ferrell's demeanor during the whole of the last day's proceedings was one of apparent indifference, and part of the time, while the jury was debating the question that meant life or death to him, he was playing cards in the jail.

The deliberations of the jury occupied 6 hours and 30 minutes. Both Judge Melhorn and the prisoner had retired for the night, and nearly an hour was consumed before court could Roosevelt train arrived here last night be convened and the verdict received. The finding was delivered in the usual form. When the indictment was read Ferrell appeared to be taken by surprise and his face flushed. This was the first visible sign of emotion business men's associations, and both that has been shown by the prisoner during the trial, but he quickly regained his composure and was led back to his cell without having uttered a word. Judge Melhorn discharged the jury, and Attorney Cameron, for the defense, at once gave notice of a motion for a new trial. There were not over 20 spectators in the court room when the jury reported, and there was no excitement. Ferrell's crime was the murder, on the night of Aug. 10 last, of Charles Lane, an express messenger on a Panhandle eastbound train. The murder was committed for the purpose of robbery. Ferrell secured $1,000 in money from the way safe of the Adams Express company.

Atty. Cameron and Prosecutor Robinson made their arguments and the case being delivered to the jury by Judge Melhorn. His charge was quite lengthy, being devoted largely to instructions for the guidance of the jury in determining the mental status of the prisoner at the time the crime was committed. He especially admonished the jury that no light or flippant doubt or whim and no sentiment or previous impression should be allowed to enter into the case. The jury retired for deliberation.

BRYAN IN OHIO TODAY.

Scheduled to Speak at Toledo-Finished His Opinion.

Toledo, Oct. 31 .- W. J. Bryan is expected to begin a one-day tour of Ohio by a speech here today.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Oct. 31.-W. J. Bryan concluded the final day of his last campaign tour in this city last night. During the day he spoke at Addison, Hornellsville, Almond, Alfred, Andover, Wellsville, Belmont, Friendship, Cuba, Hinsdale, Olean, Salamanca, Randolph, Jamestown and Dunkirk. All these towns are in the southwestern part of the state and all have been strongly Republican in poltics. The meetings of the day were generally well attended and some of them quite enthusiastic. Before leaving here Mr. Bryan said of New York: "If the reports which come from the various counties where polls have been made can be taken as representing the general sentiment throughout the state we have more than an even chance of carrying the state."

SWORE FALSELY AGAINST POWERS.

Anderson Makes Affidavit-Says Arthur Goebel Gave Him Money.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 31 .- The Evening Post prints an affidavit of Finley Anderson, a telegraph operator, upon whose testimony Caleb Powers was convicted of complicity in the murder of Governor Goebel, in which Anderson swears his story told on the stand at Georgetown was perjured. After telling of a conversation with Attorney Campbell at Cincinnati in connection with the Goebel case, he says:

"I remained in Cincinnati after this conversation with Campbell, and some time after that Arthur Goebel, in his store on the fourth floor, where I had gone at his request, asked me if Powers had not in my presence at Barbourville in January said to me in substance these words, referring to William Goebel: They say he wears were drowned in the great flood.

a coat of man, out it won't do him any good,' or something similar to that. I told Goebel that Powers never anything of that sort in my presence to the best of my knowledge. not remember it. I could not remember such a remark, and I know that Powers never made it, in my presence; but being urged by Arthur Goebel. I finally concluded to state that he did make such a statement, and so swore upon the trial, which testimony was false.

"Before making my statement Campbell, Wharton Golden told me to make it as strong as possible, as they (referring to Campbell and Goebel) would take care of me and protect me.

"I have since such conversation with Campbell and Arthur Goebel received from Arthur Goebel various sums aggregating about $300, and upon one occasion $10 from Justus Goebel. The last sum I received was on Tuesday. Oct. 23, 1900, which was $5 given to me by Colonel Campbell at his office in Cincinnati."

Need of Getting Out the Full Republican Straight.

HELP COMING FROM DEMOCRATS

Who Can Not Endorse Bryan and His Tenets-Let the President's Own State Give Him an Endorsement That Means Something.

Nearly 3,300 voting precincts in Ohio means, with a change of party for three votes in each of them, a difference close upon 20,000 in the result in the state. When we remember that in 1892, Harrison carried this, his native state, over Cleveland by barely a thousand plurality, and at that lost one elector, the importance of even a single vote in each precinct for Ohio, is emphasized very forcibly.

Republicans, remember this fact in every precinct next Tuesday. A full vote means not alone an overwhelming majority against Bryanism in the Buckeye state, but it may mean members of congress that will sustain President McKinley in his second term, and enact the policies that will make the entire administration harmonious and successful to the greater benefit of every interest at home and abroad. It may mean, in your own counties, the election of county officials who will strengthen your line for future contests. Not infrequently in Ohio politics have men in close counties been carried through by a plurality that was much less than a single vote in each precinct of the interested county. No vote can ever be spared. No vote should ever be missed from the polls; and this year, of all years, every supporter of McKinley and his cause should be out early next Tuesday morning and at work, not merely to cast his own ballot, but to bring in the wavering and doubtful, or aid in getting to the polls those who may be hindered in any way.

Let there be an earnest, zealous rivalry between districts, between counties, between precincts, as to which one shall secure the fullest, most complete representation of its en. tire voting strength for the Republican cause. The entire work of the campaign of every kind-speeches, and newspapers, and circulation of documents and organization, and everything else that has been or can be done, will be worse than wasted unless it shows up in results at the polls. Nothing but votes will be counted next Tuesday night, and nothing but votes will register the majorthe candidates on the ticket with ism, root and branch. them.

Remember another thing, Republicans. That is, this year there is every reason to expect a very large vestpocket vote for prosperity and national honor, and against all that is bogus in Bryanism, from men who have always been Democrats, and are today too sincerely Democratic to abide the vagaries of Bryanism. Many of these men, like Don Dickinson, have hoped that they might satisfy their consciences this year by not voting, but many of them, as Bryan's campaign of abuse, of impugnment of the patriotism of the American people, has proceeded, have come, like Mr. Dickinson, to decide that duty demands from them their affirmative vote against such shameless campaigning by the candidate who is masquerading under the good old Democratic name, in defiance of principles that Jefferson, and Jackson, and the founders of the party made the groundwork of their faith. Make it easy for such men to do their duty. Locate them as far as possible, and see to it in very way that you can, that they vote and vote right, rather than that they merely stay away from the polls, and thus cast only half a vote against Bryanism and all the mischief that it involves at home and ducers, and crowded with danger in our foreign relations, needs not alone to be defeated in the pending election, but to be defeated with such thoroughness, such completeness, such overwhelming majorities in every state, where the people are free to vote, no matter about their color or their previous condition of any kind, that its whole false brood of isms will be rebuked and driven out of sight and from before the public gaze forever. Ohio needs not only a McKinley majority-for that is sure, as certain as the sunrise of election-but such a majority as will give McKinley every congressman possible to be gained in his own state, to support every reasonable policy of the administration, and such an overwhelming, unanswerable plurality, as will leave no chance for mistaking the verdict that Bryanism is wholly bad, and that our people will not have anything to do with it, here or hereafter, now or at any time.

Bryanism, the combination of peculiar and chiefly evil influences, charged with new ideas foreign heretofore to American thought, and alien to true American principles, and fraught our business prosperity, to the welfare of our wage-earners, and our pro- that thus maligns him?

FINAL ROUND-UP.

THE IMPERATIVE DUTY OF THE RE-PUBLICAN VOTE.

Make the X In the Circle Under the Eagle and Let 'Er Go at That-Then Your Vote Will Count For McKibley and Roosevelt.

"Now for the round-up," as Roosevelt would say. What shall the result be? All the speeches and newspaper articles and documents and curbstone conversations of the campaign are to be boiled down into votes on next Tuesday. Nothing now counts but ballots.

Republicans, remember to do your duty thoroughly. It is no longer a question of carrying Ohio, but one of making such majorities in McKinley's state as will do our full duty in disposing of Bryanism at once and forever. It is no longer the old Democratic party that we contend with, for hundreds and thousands; yes, tens of thousands, of its strongest supporters, its strongest men, in both the rank and file, have been coming to us all through the campaign.

They feel, as Don M. Dickinson, postmaster general in Cleveland's first cabinet, says in his letter, declaring that he will vote for McKinley, that they "recognize scarcely a vestige of Democratic principles in either the Chicago or Kansas City platforms." Scarcely a precinct but contains Democrats who say, with Dickinson, "I am a Democrat on all the fundamental principles on which our party joined battle in the past," and because they are such Democrats, Jeffersonian Democrats, Jackson Democrats, Cleveland ity for McKinley and Roosevelt and Democrats, they are opposed to Bryan-

> There are enough of these men to make an immense difference in the Ohio majority. Search for them, locate them, encourage them. Their disposition has been, among many of them, to stay away from the polls. They have felt, as Mr. Dickinson says, that speaker: they "might with a clear conscience stay away from the polls." But they addressed the immense Republican must now see with him, too, that "Mr. Bryan's speeches, particularly his later ones, have destroyed that illusion, and it convinced me that I must vote at the coming election."

The Democratic stay-at-home vote in recent years, during the party's apostasy from its own principles, has been a powerful negative influence against the success of the organization labelled "Democratic," has dragged it down to defeat; but now more is needed. It is the duty of old-line Democrats, their duty to themselves and their party and their country, to help make the defeat of Bryanism (a hodgepodge, the like of which was never seen before and should never be seen again), so overwhelming that no political trickster of the Nebraska brand will ever again, in the name of fusion, cater to the passions and prejudices of the people, irrespective of all principles, to achieve the presidency for himself.

Add Altgeld to the lengthening list of Bryanite abusers of the American soldiers. At Brooklyn he said that "our soldiers are laying waste fields, burning houses, shooting down women with danger to our internal peace, to and children." Can any soldier's friends or family vote for the party

WATCH THE COUNT.

Democratic Scheme to Carry Ohio For Bryan.

KEEP GUARD AT EVERY POINT!

There Are Thirty-three Hundred Precincts In Ohio, and the Stealing of a Few Votes In Every Precinct Would Mean a Change In the State's Vote.

The Republican state committee is informed that a scheme is on foot to steal the state for Bryan, if it can be

There are many ways in which this might be attempted, and every one of these should be guarded against. One is, to call a Republican ticket as a Democratic one, in the count of the vote. Another, and a very clever one, is for a Democratic judge who is "calling" the tickets one by one, to pick up two tickets at a time, thus losing one vote to McKinley and the whole Republican ticket every time this is done.

A single Democrat, on an election board, may thus reverse the verdict of his precinct. The ballots are destroyed when the count is completed, thus precluding any recount. See to it that the count is an honest one. The Republicans have nothing to fear from an honest ballot and a straight count.

Republican precinct committeemen in every precinct in Ohio have the legal right to see that EVERY BAL-LOT is not only called, but is called correctly. Insist on your legal rights!

Men who can be relied upon absolutely should be appointed watchers at EVERY polling place in the state, and they should be instructed to see that neither Republicans nor Democrats shall be cheated out of the votes which legally belong to them. Republicans want honest elections. The believe in the rule of the majority, and not in fraud and cheating.

FRANCIS MURPHY

Is the Acme of Eloquence, And His Son'is Following in His Footsteps.

Francis Murphy, the great apostle of temperance, has a world-wide reputation for eloquence. His son, Thomas E. Murphy, attorney at law, is following in the father's footsteps in this particular, and is making friends by the thousands wherever he appears and addresses the masses. He will be here on Friday night, November 2, and address the Republican meeting at the wigwam. Don't fail to hear Thomas E. Murphy. The following editorial from a leading Pennsylvania newspaper will show in what estimation he is held as a public

"Among the very able speakers who mass meeting held in Patton Monday night of last week of whom we cannot refrain from giving particular mention, especially from the fact that he is a resident of the great county of Cambria. The gentleman to whom we refer is Edward Murphy, Esq., of Johnstown, who is a son of the Hon. Francis J. Murphy, of national fame, and a brother of ex-District Attorney Robert S. Murphy. To say that it was a grand treat to listen to Mr. Murphy's discourse is putting it very mildly. He is not only one of the very best orators in this great comonwealth, but ranks among the highest from a national standpoint as well. One is simply carried away by the wonderful flow of language that comes from his lips, which he paints and illustrates with the ease of an artist."

DO YOU NEED COAL.

You Would Better Order Your Black Diamonds of Myler Brothers at Once.

The cold weather will strike you when you least expect it. This warm weather will soon be nipped by a gentleman familiarly known as "Jack Frost." He's a keen old fellow, and lets you know when he assumes command. It is good sense to be prepared for him. And the proper thing for you to do is to leave or send your order to Myler Brothers, No. 326 Walnut street, at the fine coal yards, where immediate and prompt attention will be given them, and the Black Diamonds will be hustled to your home or place of business. It will pay you to deal with Myler Brothers, as they handle the very best grades of coal and sell at the lowest prices consistent with legitimate business principles. Remember the No., 326 Walnut

THE NEWS REVIEW

Women Who Work

Nine out of ten women are afflicted with some of the common ailments known as female diseases. Among women whose employment requires them to stand on their feet or sit in the same position all day, not one in twenty-five escape these troubles. The average feminine consti-tution cannot, unaided, withstand the strain to which steady, trying work subjects them. The organs of woman-hood are so delicate and finely adjusted that the inevitable result of constant standing, lifting, stooping or straining is displacement of vital parts. The disorder is usually slight at first, but soon develops into irregular or painful menstruation, leucorrhæa or falling of the womb. Wine of Cardui is the right remedy for female weakness. As such it is offered to you. Wine of Cardui will not perform miracles, but it will, if taken as directed, insure painless and regular operation of the menstrual function. It will drive out every trace of leucorrhoa, and will so strengthen the ligaments that falling of the womb will be an impossibility. Don't you think it would pay you to try a medicine with such a record as that? You can get a $1 bottle of Wine of Carddi at any drug store and use it in the privacyof your home.
